MORE SAFETY PRECAUTIONS AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Will Be in Recommendations of Engineer Elwell of Utilities Commission.

There will be a wholesale cleanup of all grade crossings in the state of Connecticut, which are at present numerous, and there are many such, if the recommendations to be made by Chief Engineer C. C. Elwell of the public utilities commission in report, are enforced. Mr. Elwell has just completed his annual inspection of the lines of the New Haven road, the Central Vermont and the Central New England, within the state, and he made a special study of grade crossing conditions. His report to the commission has not been completed.

Mr. Elwell made a statement Saturday that he found many grade crossings at which there is marked need for improvement, if the public traveling the highways of the state is to be adequately protected. He found, he said, that the most dangerous grade crossings, where motorists are liable to other vehicles, could obtain no view of trains approaching from either direction, and where there are no gates, bells or flashing station, are located in the country districts. At unprotected crossings, where the view is obstructed by bushes on either railroad land or private land.

Mr. Elwell will recommend improvement either by clearing the brush or the installation of automatic warning bells, which ring during the approach of a train is within a certain distance of the crossing.

Mr. Elwell paid special attention to the condition of the state where every man born into this world would be guaranteed a free, full and happy existence.

At the end of the war, whoever wins, he said, would be confronted by the same problem that England faced when 1,000 soldiers home from the Boer war walked the streets of London, shouting in unison "We want work," and the consequences will be a social revolution. The working man will ask the masters to give an account of their stewardship for the working class is now called upon to take over the government which the master class have misused and abused. For a time the history of the working class has been set back by this war, but at its conclusion they will be in a better position than ever to take over the reins of government.

As one of the facts bearing upon his assertion that the war was precipitated by the knowledge held by the masses of the world, that the control passing into the hands of the working class he stated that the declaration of war came just four days after the meeting of the congress to be held in Paris at which one of the questions to be under consideration was an agreement by the working class of Germany and France to seize all the means of transportation and so make war impossible should either France or Germany declare war on the other.

Mr. Leane also made the prediction that one of the results of the war would be the actual freedom of Ireland, whose hopes of again obtaining her independence were brighter now than they had ever been before and he also declared that recruiting in Ireland now for the British army was dead as the doornail, for the expected 300,000 troops, had amounted to only 15,000 and if conscription is tried by force by the British there will be blood.

When the meeting opened Mr. Leane was introduced by Albert Boardman, who spoke of the international character of socialism as a movement of the people of the world against the rights against the interests of capital, and said that in the speaker of the evening he was glad to introduce the Irishman from Ireland and not the whitewashed Irishman or a Jewish Irishman.

From the newspaper accounts you might imagine that the cause of all this shooting of a foolish grand duke was a relative of the emperor of Austria, but it is absurd to think of this as the cause of so great a conflagration which has a meaning for all the future of mankind. All the news we read is not written by newspapermen, but by the reports of military officers, English and French, and is one sided because they have control of the means of communication. From the reports the Germans have been on the retreat pretty constantly, but the speaker said he should not be surprised to hear of their next retreat being to Paris, but from the strength of their retreats so far.

Austria's need of an outlet on the Mediterranean and the Balkans, and the assumption of her right to have the largest and most powerful navy, Germany's expanding commercial and industrial power, and not commercial lines to provide for quick drives towards either border were all pointed out by the speaker as presaging the war.

He warned against the pro-British feeling which he said was to be created here to enable the British to make a way loan and said that one of the factors that was being used was the ascribing of atrocities to the Germans, which he did not believe.

He ridiculed England's claim that she was in the war because of her guarantee of Belgium's neutrality and asked what about the neutrality of Egypt and of Persia, which England had also guaranteed. In the same line he also said that if Churchill were sincere about the promised routing of Poland and the extension of Italy into Austria to cover the Italian parts of Austria, he might extend the same

PREDICTS FREEDOM OF IRELAND

Cornelius Leane, Socialist Speaker, Sees This in Outcome of European War—Says Nations Plunged into War to Dodge Growing Power of Socialism—Crash of European Dynasties is to Come.

Asserting that one of the reasons for the European war was that Germany, England and France had been plunged into it by their governing classes because this was a way that the rulers saw of dodging a social revolution that was about to break upon them through the growing power of the working classes and the socialist movement, Cornelius Leane of Cork, Ireland, who spoke in the town hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Norwich local of the socialist movement, held the closest attention of his audience of about 100 men for about an hour and three-quarters, as he discussed the war from a socialistic standpoint.

Rising through the smoke of battle he could see, he declared in his brilliant concluding sentences, the co-operative commonwealth of the world, the socialist republic, the united states of Europe on a social basis, with the kind of treatment to the Buddhists in India and possibly to the French Canadians.

Taking up social forces at work in England prior to the war which he said gave the clue to what brought the war about, Mr. Leane said it was the rise of working classes to power. There was a triple entente of labor in the union of the railroad men, the miners, and the transportation workers with two million members working together.

In Germany the working class was most powerful, having four and a half million votes and representing from 30 to 35 million people, and the Kaiser was becoming uneasy at their growing power. Five more years of the same progress would have given the government into the hands of the working class by peaceful revolution. To escape revolution at home he plunged into a foreign war.

In France also the working class had captured 40 seats in the parliament and German, French and English working men were shaking hands as brothers, but are now fighting each other in the heat of the master class.

In Italy the answer that the working class returned to the government was that a social revolution would follow if Italy entered the war. These were all social phases, Mr. Leane claimed, but are now fighting each other by the master class which plunged their countries into war.

TWO BITTEN MEN TAKEN TO NEW YORK.

Dr. Lewis Takes Them There for Pasteur Treatment.

Alex Putch and John Zawieja, both of whom were badly bitten by a dog owned by John Nicol of Roosevelt avenue, were taken to New York on the 2:50 train on Monday afternoon for the Pasteur treatment. The dog bit both men at his owner's home previous to his departure for Bazaar, inflicting had lacerations on one of Putch's hands while Zawieja's face was badly cut by the dog's teeth. Health Officer Lewis, who was apprised of the fact that the men had been bitten, notified Commissioner on Domestic Animals Jeffrey O. Phelps, who ordered him to take the men to the Pasteur institute in New York.

Putch and Zawieja will be under treatment from four to six weeks. It requires this length of time to inject the serum and to have it take the desired effect. The expense of this treatment, which is about $100, will be repaid by the town, which will subsequently be repaid by the state, the money coming out of the funds raised by the sale of dogs.

Dog Warden George H. Stanton has received an order which makes compulsory the muzzling of all dogs for a period of 90 days.

There is at present no dog warden in the town of Norwich but it is probable that Dog Warden Stanton will be appointed as such by the town officials.

Henry R. Harding.

Henry R. Harding, one of the oldest residents of the town of Niantic, died Saturday evening at Pine Grove.

Mr. Harding lived for many years on the Pine Grove farm, but last year moved his place to Frank Dawson and moved to Pine Grove, where he has resided since. Mr. Harding had a very wide circle of acquaintances and was a well known figure in Niantic and surrounding towns for many years. Mr. Harding is survived by his wife, a son, Theodore C. Harding, and one daughter, Mrs. Curtis M. Smith.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Littlefield.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Littlefield passed away at her home, No. 11 McKinley avenue, on Monday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock, at the age of 95 years.

Mrs. Littlefield was born in Plainfield where she lived until 12 years of age, the daughter of Alexander and Nancy (Cole) Dorance, and the seventh in their family of ten children. She then went to Williamstown, where 75 years of her long life were passed.

She was united in marriage with John M. Littlefield, a one child, resulted from the union, Mrs. Frank Green of Seattle, Wash. There are also grandchildren in the west.

Mrs. Littlefield was a member of the First Baptist church in Williamstown. Mrs. Littlefield was an active and devoted Christian, and her activities prolonged her life. During her life she crossed the continent three times to visit her daughter in Seattle, and the trips were a source of much pleasure to her. She was returning from a visit to her daughter about six years ago when she had resided here. She had a wide circle of close friends, who deeply regret her death.

AT DAVIS THEATRE

Vaudeville and Photoplays

At the Davis theatre on Monday a pleasing vaudeville bill was produced before well filled houses that found much to approve of. In an up to date comedy sketch, Kent and Berg drew the laugh that they were meant to produce and Billy Barron in his character musical act with saxophone, violin and cymbals was a satisfactory number on the bill. Three excellent colored entertainers in comedy singing, talking and dancing were the Owen Sisters and Harper.

A Keystone comedy with the Mutual Weekly and a strong dramatic film were the attractive offerings in the photoplays.

Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Partridge were surprised by a large number of friends at their home at Brewster's Neck, Saturday evening. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. A special feature was a talk on California, a trip recently taken by Mr. and Mrs. George Partridge. Musical selections and games were also a feature. A buffet lunch was served.
